Terms, Conditions and Disclaimer for website usage

Welcome to our website. If you continue to browse and use this website, you are agreeing to comply with and be bound by the following Terms and Conditions of use. If you disagree with any part of these Terms and Conditions, please do not continue to use our website.

The term Trinity Chambers LLP (“Trinity”, “us”, “we” or “it”) refers to the owner of this website whose registered office is 18 New Street, St Peter Port, Guernsey, GY1 2PF. The term “you” refers to the user or viewer of our website.

Disclaimer

Trinity has tried to ensure that the contents and information it provides on its website is accurate at the time of posting. Unfortunately it cannot guarantee the accuracy of contents or information contained in its pages and any person using information contained in them does so entirely at their own risk. Trinity reserves the right to make changes without notice.

In no event will we be liable for any loss or damage including without limitation, indirect or consequential loss or damage, or any loss or damage whatsoever arising from loss of data or profits arising out of, or in connection with, the use of this website.

Every effort is made to keep the website up and running smoothly. However, Trinity takes no responsibility for, and will not be liable for, the website being temporarily unavailable due to technical issues beyond our control.

Data Protection & Privacy Policy

Our Privacy Policy governs our use of your Personal Data and is available on the website. It sets out the types of information we collect, the reasons we collect it, how we use it, in what circumstances and for what reasons, and any other relevant information relating to our use and/or processing of your Personal Data and your rights in relation to it.

Copyright & Use

All text, images and other content on this website is copyright of Trinity unless explicitly stated otherwise. It may not be downloaded or copied without first obtaining permission for personal, non-commercial use. If you wish to reproduce website content in any other way, or for any other purpose, you must first contact Trinity for permission.

Trademarks

All trademarks on this site remain the property of their respective owners and are used for identification purposes only.

Linking

Trinity is not responsible for the contents, nor does it warrant the accuracy or reliability, of any linked website. Trinity, to the extent permissible by law, excludes all liability which may arise from your use or reliance on the information or contents contained in the linked site. These links are provided for your convenience to provide further information and therefore not signify that we endorse the websites; and do not imply recommendations to use the services offered by the websites.

Viruses and other harmful content

We do not guarantee that our website does not contain viruses or other malicious software. We shall not be responsible for any bugs or viruses on our website, or any software that might be transferred to your computer from our website, or any consequences which the presence or operation of such programs may have. You must ensure that you have in place up-to-date and effective anti-virus protection on your computer or other browsing device.

You must not upload or otherwise introduce to our website any viruses, malware, spyware, adware, Trojan horses, worms, logic bombs, time bombs, keystroke loggers or any other programs or code that is harmful or malicious. You must not use any third parties, software or technology to attempt to gain unauthorised access to our website, our servers, systems, hardware, software or data. We may report any breach or suspected breach of this clause to the relevant authorities and may disclose your identity.

Cookies

Cookies are small text files stored on your computer by your browser. They're used for many things, such as remembering whether you've visited the site before, so that you remain logged in - or to help us work out how many new website visitors we get each month. They contain information about the use of your computer but do not include personal information about you (they don't store your name, for instance).

At this time, Trinity uses both “necessary cookies” (which enable core functionality of the website, and can only be disabled by changing your browser preferences) and “analytical cookies” (used to help us improve our site functionality by collecting and reporting information on its usage). Upon using our website you may “decline” the use of the analytical cookies if you so wish.
